

A stylized, high-contrast illustration of a volcanic landscape. A red volcano is on the left, with a yellow and white plume of smoke or lava rising from its crater. The background is split into green and light blue areas, with dark, swirling patterns representing water or smoke. The foreground is a dark blue, wavy band representing the sea, with an orange-brown strip at the very bottom.

Angelo Trimarco

Napoli

UN RACCONTO D'ARTE

1954 / 2000

Editori Riuniti